ABSTRACT

CBIT provides excellent opportunities for all round development of students but there is no proper platform wherein the students can report their problems. Students don't know whom to report their issues. They also fear to come forward and express their problems.

CBIT Discussion forum is a common arena where students can discuss any of their opinions anonymously on any topic regarding the college issues for the betterment of the ongoing curriculum.

There is an utter need to develop a platform for the students to express their issues officially so that the faculty in-charge of the fields in which the issue has aroused will get a notification if it is a common issue of discussion with the major suggested solution.

We strive to create a forum where the students can post their thoughts and developing an NLP algorithm which will identify inappropriate posts and delete them. If the same person posts inappropriate content many times, the user will be blocked. The most discussed issue along with its solution will be mailed to the respective faculty in-charge.
